Fr. Gerard's Corner

To leave everything behind when you set a new course for your life is a dramatic break. Not only to leave it all behind, but to destroy it so that there's no going back, makes the break even more dramatic. But to leave it behind and destroy it, and in destroying it immediately perform the kind of action that puts into practice the mission that determines the rest of your life—that is the most dramatic turnaround possible. This is what Elisha does. He sacrifices his plow and oxen to provide food, not for his family as before, but for the entire people. Elisha has turned immediately to serving “his people,” and using whatever he has at hand to do so.

“The Son of Man has nowhere to rest his head” (Luke 9:58). Very true. He was born in a stable, his parents unable to find a room in an inn. He began his public ministry in his hometown synagogue, only to be driven out of town by an angry mob. He spent the next three years journeying through Galilee and Judea as he preached and gathered disciples. He spent the day before he was put to death in a borrowed room in Jerusalem. Making his true home in any one place was never part of his mission. Instead, his home is in each of us, most notably when we gather together in his name and celebrate the Eucharist.

Jesus' disciples have left their homes as well. In signing on to Jesus' mission, they have left their families, jobs, and hometowns. They don't look back either; we never hear of any of them taking a week or two off to return home to attend to unfinished business. Their commitment is complete.

Question of the Week:

What commitment have I made that was the most transformative? How can my commitment to my faith be more complete?

MESSAGING IN RELATION TO SB 360

The State Legislature is considering a bill to regulate the Sacrament of Penance and force priests to break the Seal of Confession. It would make the same demands on similar religious practices by other faiths and denominations in California.

It is a bad bill.

The bill is referred to as SB 360 by state Sen. Jerry Hill (D-San Mateo). The motivation for the bill is noble, to uncover and stop the abuse of children, but under certain circumstances, SB 360 would make it a crime if a priest heard the confession of a child abuse victim or a child abuser and failed to break the Seal of Confession to report what they heard in the Confessional to law enforcement.

Confession and Penance are central to the practice of our Catholic faith. Neither the Legislature nor the author of the bill understand the meaning of Confession to Catholics. It is an act where a person reveals his conscience to God... hoping to receive God's Mercy. It helps us prepare to receive the Eucharist and to participate fully in our Faith. It reminds us and tangibly shows us the power of God's Love.

Recently, SB 360 was amended to reduce its scope. Instead of having to report the contents of all confessions heard by a priest, the bill would now only require reporting on the contents of some of the Confessions he heard. Chaplains in prisons would be allowed to respect the Confessional Seal if they heard the Confession of an inmate, but not of a prison guard or other prison worker. Chaplains at hospitals could anoint the sick and hear their Confessions, but they could not hear Confessions from doctors, nurses and other hospital staff without being required to report what they heard.

Even more alarming, priests could not hear Confessions from other priests without reporting the contents to law enforcement. Nor could they hear Confessions from their work colleagues at parishes, schools, colleges, Catholic Charities or anyplace else they worked without having to report the contents to law enforcement.

For the priest, it is a mortal sin and automatic Excommunication for him to reveal the contents of a person's confession. In the past, priests have chosen torture and death rather than break their solemn vow to protect the Seal of Confession. That's how important it is.

The certainty of confidentiality and the knowledge that Confession is a sacred conversation with God encourages Catholics to seek out and receive God's Mercy.

Reducing, but not eliminating, the number of times a priest has to choose incarceration or excommunication does not make SB 360 a better bill.

Please let your state legislators hear from you. Please tell them SB 360 is a bad bill and should not be approved and sent to Gov. Newsom.

Take Action Now:

<https://cqrcengage.com/cacatholic/app/write-a-letter?3&engagementId=498306>

Type the link into your web browser and fill out the form to email your representative.

Please urge a NO vote on SB 360 unless it is amended. Any law that does not keep this unique form of religious communications private and available to every person, is wrong and violates Californians' rights to practice their religion freely.

St. James Academy named U.S. Green Ribbon School

St. James Academy in Solana Beach was recently honored by the U.S. Department of Education as a Green Ribbon School.

The school takes a holistic, hands-on and spiritual approach to environmental and sustainability education and is the first Catholic school in Southern California to receive the distinction as well as the only private school in California to receive the honor this year.

In 2016, St. James received a gift of $20,000 from Feed the Future to rebuild and enhance its organic edible garden and with another $20,000 in donations they were able to fence off an area of the school in 2018 to create additional green schoolyard space and an outdoor classroom. The outdoor classroom features cement benches in a row in front of a monarch mural painted by a school grandparent—the mural incorporates a blackboard wall for teaching.

In the edible garden, students plant seasonal vegetables and herbs and care for two citrus trees. After the harvest students have made soups, salads, smoothies and lemonade .

With help from University of California Master Gardener and St. James parent Linda Haley, they now have a Kumeyaay Native American teaching garden, a pollinator garden and monarch garden that is in process to become a certified Monarch Waystation, providing plenty of milkweed, the only flower that Monarchs lay their eggs on.

Students played a role in building handicap-accessible pathways through the garden and seventh graders proudly built a biofiltration swale—the rain garden holds in moisture and rocks clean the water before it flows into the storm drain.

The pollinator garden blooms with the lavender flowers of Bee's Bliss, a favorite of bees and hummingbirds, and purple butterfly bush. Kids enjoy finding the baby caterpillars in nature and putting them in the student-built butterfly house to give a safe spot to cocoon.

El rincón del P. Gerardo

Dejar todo atrás cuando tomas un nuevo rumbo en la vida es una ruptura drástica. No sólo dejar todo atrás, sino destruirlo para no tener regreso, hace que la ruptura sea aún más drástica. Pero dejarlo atrás y destruirlo, e inmediatamente poner en obra la misión que va a determinar el resto de tu vida, ése es el cambio de rumbo más radical y drástico posible. Eso es lo que hace Eliseo. Él sacrifica su arado y sus bueyes para proporcionarle alimento, no a su familia como antes, sino a todo el pueblo. Eliseo ha cambiado su rumbo para servir a “su gente” y usar todo lo que tiene a mano para hacerlo.

“El Hijo del hombre no tiene en dónde reclinar la cabeza” (Lucas 9, 58). Muy cierto. Nació en un establo, pues a sus padres les fue imposible encontrar posada. Comenzó su ministerio público en la sinagoga de su propio pueblo natal y pronto una multitud hostigada lo echó de la ciudad. Pasó los tres años siguientes viajando a través de Galilea y Judea mientras predicaba y reunía discípulos. El día antes de su muerte lo pasó en una habitación prestada en Jerusalén. Hacer de un lugar determinado su hogar permanente no fue nunca parte de su misión. En vez, su hogar está en cada uno de nosotros, particularmente cuando nos reunimos en su nombre a celebrar la Eucaristía.

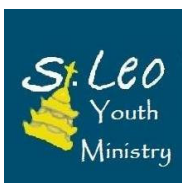

Los discípulos de Jesús también habían dejado su hogar atrás. Al unirse a la misión de Jesús dejaron atrás su familia, su empleo y su ciudad natal; pero tampoco ellos miran hacia atrás. No sabemos de ninguno de ellos que haya tomado una semana o dos para regresar a casa y atender las obligaciones que no habían podido terminar. El compromiso de ellos es completo.

St. James—St. Leo Catholic Community is under the pastoral care of the Eudist Fathers, or Congregation of Jesus and Mary. We owe our name to Saint John Eudes who founded the Congregation in France in 1643. Evangelization, mainly with the poor and the youth, is our primary purpose, as well as formation to ministry in the training of diocesan priests and lay ministers. Our motto is "To Serve Christ and His Church." For more information visit: <http://www.eudistsusa.org>
